We break the ice and build teams

Climbing is a team building activity. The climber's safety is entrusted to their buddy (the belayer) who by definition supports the climber's quest for success. Climbing bonds, reinforces trust and teaches us the value of task delegation as a necessity to developing effective and efficient teams.

Camp5 offers an excellent choice of location and range of activities for your company's next team building day. Either take up one of our standard packages, or request a tailored program designed to target your specific requirements.

Camp5 has allotted 4 hours each weekday, from 10am - 2pm for exclusive use of the facility. The floor plan provides ample space for hosting presentations whilst the air conditioned environment, 20m high floor to ceiling windows, and professional team guarantee a lasting impression.

So whether you simply need us to meld your colleagues or are looking for a unique and dynamic location from a media product launch, Camp5 can cater.
