Learning to lead a natural progression of climbing; to be independent, to be able to step up to a wall, choose a line, and climb it. Only by tying into the 'sharp end' of the rope, can the climber explore 'the zone' located just above the last clip. Such freedom however inherits new risks, requiring new skills and experience.

Camp5 eases your transition from indoor top-roping to outdoor lead climbing via two progressive instructional courses:

The Lead Wall Course (LWC) covers leading gear review, clipping, fall factors, lead climbing, belaying and fall techniques, providing you the knowledge, skills and experience to safely lead climb single pitch on artificial walls.

The Lead Rock Course (LRC) will build on your LWC experience adding elements inherent to outdoor lead climbing; quickdraws, slings and webbing, advanced knots, anchors building, gear retrieval and single pitch self rescue techniques.

Prerequisite skill is a MUST; minimum 6a Top-rope climbing see reverse-side for further information
